THIS WEEK IN HISTORY

This week the date of Oct. 16 stands out in our history review. It marked both the beginning and the end of certain phases of World War II.

On Oct. 16, 1940, some 16 million Americans began to sign up for the first peace-time draft in our history. This was the first step toward organizing our manpower for the war that was to be thrust upon us a little more than a year later.

On Oct. 16, 1946, the finale was staged at the Nuremberg prison for 11 of Hitler's henchmen who had plotted and attempted to carry out the scheme for world conquest. Ten of them were hanged in the dark hours before dawn. The eleventh—Herman Goering—beat the noose by committing suicide shortly before he was to go to the gallows. He took a poison capsule which he had succeeded in concealing during the 17 months he was in prison.

The final score on the top Nazis was this: Five committed suicide—these included Hitler, Goebbels, Goering, Ley and Himmler; Martin Bormann, Hitler's right-hand man, is presumed dead; ten were hanged; seven were sent to prison for terms ranging from ten years to life; three were freed.

Oct. 16, thus marked the first chapter of World War II for 16 million young Americans and it marked the final chapter of World War II for the men who had launched that conflict.

Local Man Has Plant in Long Beach

Because of the housing shortage, not all of the personnel of Torrance's industrial plants live in the city. By the same token, this city is the residence of manufacturers whose plants are in other communities. One of these is A. E. Falk, a long-time Torrance resident, who now manufactures his product in Long Beach, but sells part of it right back in Torrance.

Falk owns and operates the Centrifugal Casting Company, which produces castings electrically for all well pumps, cylinder sleeves for engines and other industrial uses. He is located in Long Beach because it is nearer to the Signal Hill, Long Beach and Huntington Beach oil fields.

Centrifugal castings are made from scrap metal and pig iron, with different alloys used for different purposes. Outside surfaces may be moulded to almost any desired shape, the only "must" is a straight hole thru the center.

Lioness Club
Sets Meeting for Tuesday

Social meeting of the Lioness Club will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 19 at 1617 Cravens avenue.

Special guest for the evening will be Mrs. C. Cook, who has made an extensive study of psychology and will give a talk on that interesting subject.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting. Hostesses are Mesdames Bernice Moshos, Mary Spring and Viola Ramer.

FASHIONS . . .

It's odd, isn't it, how the New Look made skirts longer and hair shorter . . . how moccasins went off and hats went on . . . Fall Preview: dressy dresses will be made of satin and lace over satin. Shoes will be opera pump style with toes and heels in. The Cuban heel will be most popular because it's high enough for your dressy ballet length skirts and yet low enough to dance comfortably all evening.

CUT FOOD COSTS

In these days when high prices govern the family menu, it is very difficult to provide both nourishment and variety, without causing your budget to teeter dangerously. A boon to every person who shops and cooks is the United States Department of Agriculture booklet "Money Saving Main Dishes." It contains 150 tested recipes especially prepared to help you save food and money, and to enjoy nutritious zesty meals. You'll find suggestions for rounding out a meal, preparing box lunches, and pointers on shopping. You can obtain this booklet free by writing a post card to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SPORTSMEN'S DUTY

"Your fish and game heritage is lost when you fail to report a game code violation. Without the backing of at least 90 percent of the real sportsmen, a game law is unenforceable," claims Leonard E. Foote, field representative, Wildlife Management Institute.

WILL PRESENT 'LAURA'

Following last week's broadcast from Cleveland, Ohio, when saluted the Volunteer Workers of the Community Chests of America, United States Steel's radio show, "Theatre Guild On The Air," returns to New York for the Oct. 17 presentation of "Laura," starring Burt Lancaster, June Duprez and George Coulouris, via stations of the ABC network at 7:30 p.m. Pacific Daylight time.
